

COCKRAN ON SPAIN.

Declares the United States Should Stop the Cuban War.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD CRY HALT

To the Spaniards—The President Must Move—The Great New York Orator's Address to 2,000 Cubans: Arouses His Hearers—United States: Could Use Its Navy in No Better Cause than to Free Cuba.

Following is, in part, the speech delivered by Hon. Bourke Cockran at Chickerling hall, New York, Friday night, to two thousand Cubans, the occasion being the anniversary of the massacre of Cuban medical students by Spanish soldiers, November 27, 1871.

Among other things, Mr. Cockran said: "I may not to-night speak the language of diplomacy, but I promise you I shall speak the words of truth. We have come here to rectify a story of wrong and of outrage. We have not come merely to shed tears for the dead, but to take counsel over the future of the living." (Wild applause.)

Then, briefly, but in words that touched every Cuban heart there, the speaker recited the story of the execution of the eight students on that memorable November 27, 1871. He spoke the word "rebellion." Hises drowned it; Cockran never mentioned the word again.

He told how the students of the University of Havana had found an empty wagon at the cemetery gate, abutting on the college buildings. They drove around the cemetery. One picked a rose. For this boyish trick, he said, eight human beings were tried for desecrating the grave of one Castagnon. The first tribunal refused to pass sentence of death. Spanish injustice called a second one to do its bidding, which it did.

Eight were shot to death. Many more were imprisoned. Two alone were freed. They were not of Cuban birth. A monument with one word graven on it—"Innocents"—(Innocents)—now keeps green their memory in the self-same cemetery in Havana.

Some of the listeners were weeping. Cockran was tender and pathetic as he told of the student martyrs. In a twinkling he was a roaring lion.

"The government," he shouted, "that does not use its functions to prevent murder, but uses them to perpetuate it, is a blot on civilization (Tumult for two minutes.)

"The moral law is as binding on nations as on individuals. That law was enacted in Heaven before it was enacted on earth.

"In this country such a punishment would not be meted out to any one for such a crime. In this country we would not permit the killing of a dog for such a crime.

"Spain is the one intolerable government of the nineteenth century. I'm not criticizing the government of Spain at home. I'm criticizing the government of Spain in Cuba. We have a duty to perform; a duty in the sight of man, a duty in the sight of God, a duty to civilization, a duty to ourselves.

"Whether we have encouraged him or not, the Cuban believes that this government will extend a sympathizing hand to him in his struggle. In this belief he has taken up arms; it will be for his emancipation or it will be for his extermination! (Wild applause.)

"Attitude Should be Defiant."

"It is idle to say that this government is not responsible for the hope that the Cuban cherishes. We owe it to all the world that our attitude should be defiant! (Cheers and cries of "Cuba Libre!") This, that the world may know, that the Spaniard may know the condition with which he must reckon. If this government believes that we should be idle spectators, then why 'in Heaven's name' doesn't it say so?" (Prolonged applause.)

"Don't prolong the butchery. Don't give the Cuban hope. Let our attitude be known at once!"

"We have an interest in Cuba that is not sentimental. It is wonderfully fertile. Americans have settled there, we have a great commerce growing up with Cuba. But its government is purely military. It gives us but imperfect service. More than $26,000,000 is collected in taxes, only $700,000 is spent for the benefit of Cuba. The rest goes to supporting Spanish soldiers and Spanish interests. The native Cuban is excluded from participation in his own government. The island is a waste whose desolation is only distributed by the crack of the assassin's rifle or the crackling of flames devouring the monuments of peaceful industry.

"The people of these United States ask their government here and now to declare that it must stop! (Cries of 'Yes! yes!') If our government declares that it must stop, stop it shall! (Wild applause.)

"My friends, I am not a believer in war. Capital interests and armaments are capital waste. But if the possession of a navy would lead the President of the United States to say that in the name of the United States this butchery must cease, then I would say: That navy has done more good in the world than any other navy that ever existed in the world! (Prolonged applause.)

Spain Would Soon Treat.

"I believe that Spain would treat for the independence of Cuba the day that she feared the armed intervention of the United States. I would never glory in that flag (pointing to the stars and stripes) as on the day I could see it flying from the mastsheads of ten American warships entering the harbor of Havana. And, if an American admiral on board should be just then inviting General Weyler and the executioners and the entire paraphernalia of the Spanish government to take a trip to Barcelona and Cadix, I'll wager the invitation would be accepted! (Laughter and hisses.)

"Entering the harbor of Havana to demand the liberation of Cuba, we would be inviting. Entering that harbor to annex Cuba, we would be on a level with Spain. Ours is not a nation of military aggression. The republic has a nobler and more enduring mission to accomplish. This is to accomplish the industrial conquest of the world!" (Applause.)

Cockran drew his dispassionate again. He was telling his ideas on Cuba's future. He would have it free first and then give it a chance to govern itself. Not until it had measured its capacity for self-government would he consider its admission to the union. And then only when it came as an equal, requesting sisterhood with our states.

"I would not conquer her," he cried, "but I would liberate her. I would not take her into the union, but I would use all the power of the union to give her an opportunity to taste the sweet and the bitter of self-government!" (Applause and cheers.)

Favors an Indemnity.

The speaker was not for humiliating Spain. He would serve her interests. He was for an indemnity even. He promised that if the United States would guarantee the interest on those bonds, the Havana custom house would do the rest once Cuba was free. He spoke of two late crises in American history—the civil war and the recent election—as proving that our government is a success.

"Let us," he shouted, while the audience shouted an approval, "supplement this great exhibition of a civilized government by a third! Let us prove that while we may not be tempted from the paths of peace by dreams of military conquest or the tinsel glories of war, we can be moved to our innermost depths by the cry of distress coming from suffering humanity!

"We must insist that European diplomacy remain in the other hemisphere. We must insist that European tyranny stay on the other side of the Atlantic. We shall invade no country across the ocean.

"But soon this government must speak on this Cuban question. It cannot delay much longer. Will our President pronounce the word of doom or the word of liberation for these poor Cubans?

"If at the command of this government rapine and murder shall cease, tyranny across the Atlantic, then will civilization be elevated; then will Democracy be vindicated; then will Republic be triumphant; then will the flag of this country forever remain a symbol of liberty and progress in the eyes of mankind!" (Tremendous cheers.)

He was done. The Cuban patriots on the stage sprung to their feet. Every one was up. Handkerchiefs, hats and flags waved madly. At last there was silence again.

Then a hundred pressed forward to shake Mr. Cockran's hand and to congratulate him.

At St. Leo's church on Twenty-eighth street regular mass was said yesterday for the murdered Havana students. The church was filled with Cubans. Father Ducey in his short sermon denounced the cruelty and injustice of Spain.

"The young men for whose souls we pray to-day," he said, "were murdered. They were the cause of liberty. It is just such noble spirits as these that insure the success of your present struggle. The sympathy of all good Catholics ought to be with you."

NO LONGER A MYSTERY.

The Skeleton Found Near Fairmont that of a Pittsburgh Man—The Cause of His Suicide.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Nov. 29.—The skeleton found in the woods near this place on Thanksgiving Day, has been identified as that of Edward McAnany, a young Allegheny mill worker. The description telegraphed to the Intelligencer led to the identification. His adopted mother, who lives in Allegheny, saw the list of articles found in the pockets of the clothes upon the remains, and instantly recognized them as belonging to her son, who disappeared from home October 3, 1895, and was last heard from in a letter dated at Morgantown two days later, in which he stated his intention to commit suicide on account of ill health.

Last night Harry McAnany, the young man's adopted father, arrived here, completely identified the remains by the clothing and has had them shipped to Pittsburgh.

The Pittsburgh Post, of to-day has the following regarding the case, which completely clears up the mystery surrounding it:

McAnany was 27 years old. He was employed as a straightener in the 12-inch rolling mill of Howe-Brown at Sixteenth street. He lived with his father, Harry McAnany, an engineer, at O'Neil & Co.'s boiler factory. October 3, 1895, he came down town to do some shopping with his mother. She noticed that he was moose, but thought nothing of it. At Wood street and Fifth avenue he kissed her goodbye and left her. That was the last she ever saw of him.

A few days later a letter came. It was long and rambling. In part it said:

"I thought I would write you a few lines to let you know of my whereabouts. I am in Morgantown, W. Va. I am weary of life. I have had 27 years of wretchedness. Do not grieve or worry about me. I hope God in his judgment will have mercy on me, and I hope God will shower blessings on your head." After making disposal of all his belongings, he continued:

"Forget me, for I am worthless. I have caused you lots of trouble. When you get this letter I shall be dead. I had to leave you all, but there is no use living when you lose your best friend, that is, health. I think I am doing the right thing. Don't look for my remains, for you won't find them."

Mr. McAnany informed Superintendent Muth of the Allegheny police, at the time, and a search was started. The father went far as Fairmont. Since then his son as far as Fairmont. Since then nothing was ever heard of the boy until his mother found the item in the papers telling of the discovery of the skeleton. In the description were noted a vial of cloves, a pair of calipers and an old Barlow knife as having been found in the pockets. They furnished the mother enough evidence. Later a description of the clothes McAnany wore was telegraphed to the coroner at Fairmont. Everything tallied. A broken finger on the right hand, and two sets of false teeth were also peculiarities of McAnany with which the description of the skeleton agreed. There is no doubt that it is McAnany.

His mother was seen yesterday in her cozy little home on the Reserve township road, just beyond the Allegheny line. She said her son had no reason except ill health to commit suicide, as far as she knew. He had plenty of money, for he earned good wages. He was a popular member of George Harris lodge, I. O. O. F.

C. G. DAWES' CAREER.

The Man who will Probably be McKinley's Secretary.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29.—Charles Gates Dawes of Illinois, who will undoubtedly be the private secretary of President McKinley, is the son of General Rufus R. Dawes, of Marietta, O., who served with distinction in the Union army in the civil war, and was a member of Congress from the Fifteenth district, when Major McKinley was a congressman.

The Dawes family is an old New England one, and the grandfather of C. G. Dawes was one of the first settlers at Marietta, the first settlement in Ohio. His mother's father, Beaman Gates, was a pioneer editor of Ohio, and for years published the Marietta Intelligencer.

Charles G. Dawes was educated at Marietta College, and married a Miss Byrner, of Cincinnati. He was living in Lincoln, Neb., four years ago, when McKinley and his political secretary, J. P. Smith, were visiting the west. They met Dawes there, and the acquaintance has ripened into intimate friendship.

Dawes moved to Evanston three years ago, and engaged in a water gas enterprise, but it did not prove a financial success. By the death of his grandfather, Gates, however, he has recently come into possession of property worth $75,000. He is treasurer of the national Republican committee.

An Angel of Mercy.

Truly, the miraculous cures of rheumatism made by Salvation Oil, justly earned for it the title: an angel of mercy; for many bed-confined rheumatics have experienced the great, curative properties of this modern liniment. "I used Salvation Oil for rheumatism and found it a sure cure. I used three bottles and am now perfectly well, and I would feel myself a benefactor if I could induce every person afflicted with rheumatism to try Salvation Oil." James H. Bryant, Debruhl's, N. C. Salvation Oil is sold everywhere for 25 cents, but some dealers may say, "we are out of it," hoping to sell a cheap substitute instead. Insist on getting Salvation Oil, or go to some other dealer who will sell it to you.

THE PRICE IS LOW.

And the Results Satisfactory—It Only Costs 25 Cents.

Sister, you wouldn't hesitate a second to pay 50 cents for just one dose of a medicine that would give you instant relief when suffering intense pain, would you? Now, Lightning Hot Drops will most positively cure all forms of stomach and bowel trouble, diarrhea, cholera morosa, flat, tramp, colic, wind on the stomach, indigestion, infantile colic, etc., and only costs 25 cents a bottle, over 30 doses. Lightning Hot Drops cures permanently and quickly and leaves no bad effects. You will be surprised to find how quick relief comes after its use. Lightning Hot Drops will relieve any kind of a pain, external or internal. It is convenient to have on hand all the time, for you can't tell how soon an accident will happen. One bottle of Lightning Hot Drops is better in the house than a cupboard full of paregoric, Bateman's drops, plasters, Jamaica ginger, camphor pills and liniments. It does the work of them all combined, and only costs 25 cents a bottle. Wonderful, wonderful are the virtues of this great, universal remedy.

When you are in buying it either for if you feel no benefit after using it as directed your druggist will give you your money back. You see it costs nothing to try it. It is cheaper to buy the 50 cent bottle, as it contains 2½ times as much as the 25 cent size. If you don't need it to-day get a bottle anyway and have it on hand in case something happens. Not one false statement has been given of the great effects of Lightning Hot Drops, and when you have once used it you will be of the same opinion. Lightning Hot Drops are made by the Herb Medicine Co., Springfield, O., and no honest druggist will try to sell you something else. Notice the imprint, Herb Med. Co., Springfield, O., on each bottle and don't be persuaded to take something else, for it is not as good as Lightning Hot Drops.

WANTS TO BE ANNEXED.

Hawaii Anxious to Come into the Union. Mr. Hatch's Return.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—Francis H. Hatch, the representative from Hawaii to the United States, has returned to the city after a long absence. The minister was asked for an interview on the prospects of a renewal of steps for the annexation of Hawaii to the United States. Mr. Hatch declined to talk on the subject, but referred his questioner to the following resolution, passed by the legislature of Hawaii in May last, as showing the attitude of his government on the subject:

"Whereas, It has heretofore been the announced policy of both the provisional government and of the republic of Hawaii, to advocate the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States of America; and

"Whereas, The legislature of the republic of Hawaii is now in regular session assembled, and will soon adjourn for a considerable period; and

"Whereas, It is fitting that the elected representatives of the people should place themselves on record as to the present state of feeling among themselves and their constituents on this subject; therefore, be it

"Resolved, By the senate and house of representatives, that the legislature of the republic of Hawaii continues to be, as heretofore, firmly and steadfastly in favor of the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States of America, and in advocating such policy, they feel assured that they are expressing not only their own sentiments, but those of the voters of the republic."

In this connection it will be recalled that just before the close of the last administration Secretary of State Foster negotiated a treaty with a commission from Hawaii for the annexation of that country to the United States. It was sent to the senate by President Harrison, but was not acted on during his administration. After President Cleveland came into office, before the senate had disposed of the treaty, the former withdrew it. The document not having been ratified by this government, nothing was done by the Hawaiians.

The legislature of Hawaii will not meet again for some time. It is understood, however, that the president of that country has the power, should he deem it expedient at any time, to reopen negotiations with the United States for a treaty looking to annexation.

No information is obtainable at the legation respecting the recent action of the Hawaiian government in rejecting the proposition for certain extensions of the concessions granted to Col. Spaulding in regard to a Pacific cable. The Hawaiians, Minister Hatch says, are anxious to have the cable laid, particularly between the United States and Hawaii, and as an evidence of their desire have offered a subsidy of $40,000 a year toward the maintenance of the cable, which is regarded as a large amount coming from such a small country.

The concession originally granted to Colonel Spaulding for the cable between Hawaii and the United States, it appears, gave him an exclusive franchise for twenty years, provided he obtained aid from his government within eighteen months after the date of the concession. The time expires in May next, so that speedy action is necessary if the original terms of the agreement are adhered to.

GLASS WORKS TO START.

Window Glass Plants will Resume Operations in a Few Days.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—The Times-Herald to-morrow will say: The window glass factories of the United States will fire up December 14. The manufacturers will meet Monday at the Bates house, Indianapolis, to form a new combination to regulate prices for the whole country. This action was determined at a secret meeting held a week ago at the Auditorium hotel in Chicago. The new combination will take the place of two organizations which have hitherto divided the country between them. The old combinations were the Pittsburgh window glass company, which operated in the territory east of Ohio, and the Western window glass company, which covered the west.

AFTER THE PLUMS.

Kanawha Republicans who are Talked of For Various Honors.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE INTELLIGENCER. CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 29.—The friends of Hon. Peter F. Jones have been actively urging his claims for the speakership of the next house of delegates and for a time it seemed that he would be a formidable candidate. However, he announces that he has no aspirations in that direction. Hon. S. R. Hanes, of Marshall county, was here last week, attending a meeting of the board of directors of the West Virginia Colored Institution, and incidentally looking after his prospects for the speakership, which he considers good. Hon. J. H. Hunt, of this county, has been mentioned by his friends in this connection, but he declines to be considered a candidate. He will look after the interests of his constituents on the floor of the house and will be frequently heard from as will also Hon. H. E. Hughes, Kanawha's youngest delegate-elect, and the old veteran Hon. W. H. Fuler, who comes back for the third time.

The Kanawha delegation will stand as a unit for E. E. Hood, for clerk of the house, and will use every effort to secure for him the desired position. They believe that his services as chairman of the county committee entitle him to it.

In the senate Hon. George W. Patton may be a candidate for the presidency. He has not so announced himself, but his friends are mentioning his name in this connection. He has had experience, which, coupled with his knowledge of parliamentary law, would make him an excellent presiding officer.

The colored people of the county ask recognition in the person of Phil Waters, the eloquent young orator, who was secretary of the convention held in Clarkburg in May last to name delegates to St. Louis. He seconded the nomination of Governor-elect Atkinson at Huntington in 1892 and again at Parkersburg in 1896, each time, attracting attention by his brilliant oratory. In 1888 he canvassed the Seventh congressional district of Virginia for General J. E. Rollier, whose opponent was Hon. C. T. O'Ferrill, the present governor of that state. He did active work during the late campaign and hopes to be rewarded with a clerical position under the incoming administration. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and a son of Rev. J. W. Waters, pastor of the Simpson M. E. church, Eoff street, Wheeling.

Hon. S. C. Burdett is making an active fight for the United States district attorneyship and believes his prospects are fair. He certainly will have no need for backing, as far as Kanawha is concerned.

More Curative Power

Is contained in a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other similar preparation. It costs the proprietor and manufacturer more. It costs the jobber more and it is worth more to the consumer. It has a record of cures unknown to any other preparation. It is the best to buy because it is the One True Blood Purifier.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, reliable, sure.

SCALY eruptions on the head, chapped hands and lips, cuts, bruises, scalds, burns are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve.
